Cub Scout Shooting Sports

Range Operator Certification

BB-Gun programs are not permitted at den and pack activities. However, leaders can help parents understand the importance of training and encourage attendance of boys at Cub Scout camps that offer this program.

Many Cub Scouts have BB guns or air rifles at home and will be exposed to some type of firearm while growing up. Parents should understand that safety is as necessary with BB guns and air rifles as it is in any other aspect of shooting. Training is essential in learning how to shoot well, and safe shooting habits developed early help provide the atmosphere for learning these skills.

Trained instructors are the best way to pass on this knowledge to our Cub Scouts. The more trained instructors that are certified, the more opportunities we have to expose the Scouts to this program. Help us pass this this knowledge on to our Cubs. It makes for a FUN and SAFE program.
